Discussion

1. Why would a doctor take the time to explain to a patient the symptoms of a disease before he offers the cure?
2. What can we learn from the doctor analogy about sharing the gospel?
3. Explain the concept "Law to the proud, grace to the humble."
4. Can you think of biblical examples of "Law to the proud and grace to the humble"?
5. The Bible speaks of the Law being "good." How can the Law be used in a way that is not good?
6. According to Scripture, how should we share our faith with a person living a sexually immoral lifestyle?
7. How would you witness to a Jewish person? A Muslim?
8. How does the Law reveal to us our true state? Explain the "dust" analogy in your own words.
9. Why don't sinners naturally thirst for righteousness? What do they love instead?

Out of the Comfort Zone Activity

Before the next session, speak to three non-Christian friends or coworkers and say, "I'm taking a course at church and as homework I have to ask some friends if they've had a Christian or other spiritual background. Can you help me with this?" If they're open, ask them for details. Just listen and write down their answers. After they explain their upbringing, thank them for their help and carry on a friendly conversation as you normally would.
