

Out of the Comfort Zone Activity

From the "Ice Breakers" sample pack included with this course, have each person in the group take a few tracts. Go over the suggestions on how to use each tract, then use these "ice breakers" with unbelievers before the next session.

If you just can't stand the thought of handing someone any piece of literature, simply start a conversation with a friend or stranger, bring up the things of God, and share your faith. A well-designed tract, however, helps by breaking the ice, opening up the conversation about God, and making the whole experience easier. We offer many unique tracts through our website at www.wayofthemaster.com.

Remember, the key is not to consider your own welfare but the eternal welfare of the unsaved person. The worst thing that could happen to you is that you will be rejected. The worst that could happen to the person to whom you are giving the tract is that he will spend eternity in hell. Ask God to give you compassion that will swallow your fears. Remember your Gethsemane experience, say, "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me," then do it. Simply ask, "Did you get one of these?" Then run if you must...

Close in Prayer

Here are the answers to "Food for Thought":

- 1) Deaf people don't use Braille. 2) Moses didn't take any animals into the ark.
- 3) You go at a green light. 4) You are the driver of the train. 5) It is noon.
